Literacy Remix

Bridging Adolescents' In and Out of School Literacies

View contents listing and a sample chapter at www.reading.org.

Literacy Remix: Bridging Adolescents' In and Out of School Literacies

Jesse Gainer and Diane Lapp

Learn how to "remix" what we know as best practices with the new 21st century literacies our students are growing up with. Here are multi-modal activities that will help your students incorporate the reading, writing, learning, and communicating tools that they use daily in order to learn important literacy and language arts skills. You'll glean ideas about how to incorporate still and moving visual images, song lyrics, Internet based sites, and other media into classroom learning to support and extend traditional academic language arts practices.

Fun-tastic Activities for Differentiating Comprehension Instruction, Grades 2–6

Sandra K. Athans and Denise Ashe Devine

These unique, engaging strategies target the specific needs of your students through the blending of teacher-led small-group instruction, independent student adventure, and the exploration of game-based literacy activities. By using Literacy Bins—multi-unit compartments containing thematic, content-aligned activities selected by students—you'll strengthen your comprehension instruction by applying it within informational, content area reading. Literacy Bins activities include creating minibooks; creative writing such as plays, poetry, and critiques; building vocabulary through words searches, jumbles, and crosswords; and technology-based activities using blogs and wikis.
